

Victoria Beckham features Fontana in tie-up with gallery Robilant + Voena

Victoria Beckham has launched a new collaboration with the London art market, installing artworks from Mayfair's Robilant + Voena in the nearby premises of her fashion business.

- Frances Allitt
- 02 Jul 2019

Fashion Brand Victoria Beckham has installed a selection of 20th century Italian and European works of art in her Dover Street shop as part of a collaboration with Mayfair gallery Robilant + Voena.

The gallery has provided post-war Italian and European works by artists such as Lucio Fontana, Agostino Bonalumi and Pietro Consagra. Pieces were selected for colours and forms that complement the seasonal fashion collection.

Beckham said the selection includes “some of my favourite works by Fontana who I’ve long admired”. She added that she was “fortunate” to have neighbours such as the gallery “that I can partner with on projects such as this”.

Previous collaborations include her link-up with Sotheby’s Old Masters department last year, as well as commissions for artists Martin Creed and Eddie Peake.

Offerings from Robilant + Voena are on show at Beckham’s Dover Street flagship store until July 11.

Read the article online: <https://www.antiquetrade gazette.com/news/2019/victoria-beckham-features-fontana-in-tie-up-with-gallery-robilant-plus-voena/>