One of the standout events of London's heavily saturated October "Frieze Week" celebration of art is PAD London, the city's leading fair for 20th Century art, design and decorative arts. Now in its eighth year, PAD London is an eclectic showcase of covetable objects spanning modern art, photography, design, as well as decorative and tribal arts.

The 2014 edition of PAD London, which returns to Berkeley Square from October 15-19, brings together 62 prominent galleries from Europe, North America, and the Middle East.
